OUR FALL CONFERENCE SPEAKER

DR. BRENT BELFORD

Dr. Belford serves as senior pastor of Colonial Baptist Church in Virginia Beach, on the faculty of Virginia Beach Theological Seminary, and as an Adjuct Professor here at Central Seminary. His area of specialization is in the use of Scriptural citations in Pauline literature.

Before arriving at Virginia Beach in 2016, Dr. Belford served as the Provost at Central Baptist Theological Seminary in Minneapolis. He also spent many years at Northland International University (Dunbar, WI) as a New Testament professor and the Director of the Graduate School. His church ministry experience includes his roles in pastoral ministry at Cross Lanes Bible Church in Cross Lanes, WV and Norway Baptist Church in Norway, MI.

Dr. Belford enjoys preaching and teaching God's Word, spending time with his wife Carissa and five children, playing golf, and cheering for sports teams from Pittsburgh, PA.

MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Matt Morrell

President, Central Baptist Theological Seminary Senior Pastor, Fourth Baptist Church

Thank you for sharing our commitment to rightly handle the word of truth (2 Tim 2:15) and faithfully preach it to a world that has turned its ears away to other messages (2 Tim 4:15). We hope that our time together will sharpen and strengthen us for this task.

INSTITUTIONAL OBJECTIVES

Central Baptist Theological Seminary intends its graduates to function as Christian leaders, and therefore expects that its students will develop in the following areas.

- Biblical and doctrinal knowledge (ideas that the graduate believes, knows, and understands, including moral convictions)
- Ordinate religious affection (Christ-like character that the graduate demonstrates, including devotion to God, moral fiber, integrity, perseverance, and self-denial)
- Functional ministry skills (tasks that the graduate performs in the execution of Christian leadership)

EQUIPPING SPIRITUAL LEADERS FOR CHRIST-EXALTING BIBLICAL MINISTRY

Double your gift to Central Seminary or WCTS Radio through Give to the Max, coming up from November 1—16. Together we are reaching the world with the gospel. Your support allows us to train pastors in the USA, around the world, and proclaim the gospel twenty-four hours a day.

Beginning November 1, you can double your gift to Central Seminary or WCTS Radio as part of Give to the Max, a fundraiser for Minnesota-based non-profits.

Thanks to generous donors, you can help us turn $50,000 into $100,000.

- Give Today: Visit the websites or call us at 763-417-8250 (8 am 3 pm CST).
- Tell Others: Share the opportunity of Give to the Max through emails, social media, and encourage your friends to get involved.
- Go To: www.centralseminary.edu/give and www.wctsradio.com
 Or mail your gift to us at 900 Forestview Ln N, Plymouth, MN 55441.
 Thank you for your support in furthering the gospel of Jesus Christ!

WCTS RADIO AM 1030 FM 97.9

Stream 24/7 at: www.wctsradio.com

> WCTS Radio exists to minister the message of the Gospel to our community through music and Bible teaching

WCTS began broadcasting on FM100.3 in June of 1965, as a ministry of Central Seminary. Studios were located at 2105 Fremont Ave. N. in the old Fourth Baptist Church building, now demolished. Today, true to our original mission, WCTS ministers to the Twin Cities region at AM1030 and FM97.9 from our studios at Fourth Baptist Church in Plymouth, Minnesota.

Our program lineup features conservative Christian music and Bible teaching, both designed for Christian growth and encouragement.

SESSION 1

CHRIST-CENTERED & GOSPEL-CENTERED PREACHING

AN EVALUATION

1. Christ-Centered Preaching

A. Proponents

- •
- •
- •
- •
- .
- -
- •

B. Definition

Christ-centered preaching is preaching that puts Jesus at

C. Description

Regarding Jesus in every sermon-Greidanus writes, "A sermon without Christ is no sermon."¹

Regarding Jesus in every text-

Mohler proclaims, "Every single text of Scripture points to Christ.... From Moses to the prophets, He is the focus of every single word of the Bible. Every verse of Scripture finds its fulfillment in Him, and every story in the Bible ends with Him."²

² Albert Mohler, He is Not Silent: Preaching in a Postmodern World, 96.

D. Strengths

- First, Christ is the object of preaching in many places in the New Testament. Christ is the object of κηρύσσω three times (cf. Acts 8:5, 1 Cor 1:23; 15:12). Five other texts Jesus is the object (cf. Acts 9:20, 19:13; 2 Cor 4:5, 11:6; and 1 Tim 3:16).
- Second, Christ-centered preaching seeks to exalt Jesus. This model of preaching produces a "heightened awareness of Christology" in preaching and worship.³ We should look for every legitimate opportunity to exalt Jesus when we preach!
- Third, Christ-centered preaching highlights the unity of the Bible. The revival or emergence of Christ-centered preaching is somewhat attributable to the rising popularity of biblical theology among evangelicals.
- Fourth, Christ-centered preaching emphasizes the gospel. Since the gospel of Jesus is the only way for people to be saved and since it is the only way to gain true peace and fulfillment, proclaiming Jesus is desirable.

E. Weaknesses/Dangers

- First, proponents of Christ-centered preaching often introduce imported emphases into a biblical text.
- Second, imported emphases mute the emphasis made by the biblical author.

Christopher Wright warns of the dangers of doing this. He writes, "If you approach a text in the Old Testament with the assumption that 'This must be about Jesus,' you easily overlook all that the original author was actually trying to say. In fact, you end up putting a gag on the mouth of the original author, in order to make him say what you think his text must be about since it must be 'all about Jesus.' And that is a very bad thing to do to the Bible!"⁴

- Third, proponents of Christ-centered preaching occasionally force Christcenteredness.
- Fourth, requiring all sermons to be Christ-centered produces a lack of variety in preaching.
- Fifth, requiring preaching to be exclusively Christ-centered is not based on sufficient scriptural warrant.
- Sixth, Christ-centered preaching sometimes distorts or diffuses important theological truths.

Three doctrinal beliefs might be distorted:

- The Trinity
- The nature of the ______
- A ______ view of ______

⁴ Chistopher J. H. Wright, How to Preach and Teach the Old Testament for All its Worth, 54.

B. Definition

Gospel-centered preaching is preaching that requires every sermon to declare that _____

C. Description

- First, Gospel-centered preaching rests on a Gospel-centered hermeneutic.
- Second, Gospel-centered preaching shares many fundamental tenets with Christ-centered preaching.
- Third, however, some Christocentric preachers declare that preaching Jesus might not be enough without specifically referencing his death and resurrection.

Tim Keller states, "It's possible to preach the New Testament—even passages in the Gospels about Jesus—without preaching the gospel."⁵

- •
- •
- •
- •

E. Weaknesses/Dangers

- First, Gospel-centered preaching shares the weaknesses of Christcentered preaching.
- Second, Gospel-centered preaching can undermine

⁵ Timothy Keller, Preaching: Communicating Faith in an Age of Skepticism, 63.

• Third, Gospel-centered preaching superimposes a predetermined outcome on every text of the Bible.

SESSION 2

THEOCENTRIC & PNEUMATOLOGICAL PREACHING

AN EVALUATION

1. Theocentric Preaching

A. Proponents

- •

B. Definition

Theocentric preaching is preaching that keeps God at the heart of every sermon.

C. Description

- First, some proponents of God-centered preaching find their
- Second, proponents of God-centered preaching emphasize what scripture says about the "glory" of God (e.g., 1 Cor 10:31, Phil 2:9–11).

D. Strengths

- First, theocentric preaching uniquely emphasizes the Father's role in the gospel.
- Second, theocentric preaching draws attention to the Father's role in Biblical theology.

Langley writes, "I want to insist that God is the main character of the story. His is the eternal decree, his is the love that drew salvation's plan, his is the initiative in sending the Son, his is the power that raised Christ from the dead and put all things under his feet. 'To him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, for ever and ever (Eph 3:21 NIV)."⁶ He says it more concisely here, "Everything else— election, judgment, redemption—is penultimate; the glory of God is ultimate."⁷ This type of thinking can be found in the Baptist Faith and Message as well. It describes the central figure of the Bible as Christ, but it also declares that its central goal is "God supreme in a redeemed universe."⁸

Third, God-centered preaching follows Jesus's preaching model.

E. Weaknesses/Dangers

⁶ Kenneth J. Langley, "Response to Bryan Chapell," in Homiletics and Hermeneutics: Four Views on Preaching Today, 35.

⁷ Langley, "Theocentric View," in Homiletics and Hermeneutics, 89.

⁸ Herschel H. Hobbs, The Baptist Faith and Message, 22.

2. Pneumatological Preaching

A. Proponents

- •
- •
- •
- _
- •
- •

B. Definition

Pneumatological preaching emphasizes the Holy Spirit's role in preaching. Various positions of Pneumatological preaching include Spirit-centered and Spirit-empowered preaching.

C. Description

- First, proponents of Pneumatological preaching suggest that the Spirit is often neglected in contemporary views of preaching.
- Second, some proponents of Spirit-centered preaching say that this form of preaching requires Christ-centeredness as its prerequisite.

D. Strengths

• First, Pneumatological preaching reminds us to expect God to work

• Second, Pneumatological preaching recognizes the Spirit's involvement with Scripture.

John Piper says, "The chief and ultimate aims of preaching are impossible apart from the miraculous working of the Holy Spirit. Without his supernatural work, neither the preacher nor the people can see or savor the beauty and worth of God."⁹

• Third, Pneumatological preaching acknowledges the significant work that the Spirit performs in preaching.

E. Weaknesses/Dangers

- First, just because the Spirit is involved with preaching does not mean that we should center or focus all sermons on Him.
- Second, Spirit-centered preaching can be guilty of forcing the Spirit into Biblical texts not meant to emphasize His ministry.
- Third, proponents of Pneumatological preaching sometimes lack clarity regarding the definition and use of important terms (e.g., filling, anointing, unction, etc.).

⁹ John Piper, Expository Exultation: Christian Preaching as Worship, 105.

SESSION 3 TEXT-DRIVEN, DOXOLOGICAL PREACHING A SUGGESTION

Perhaps, a somewhat different approach is called for. In our final moments together, I suggest that text-driven, doxological preaching is the best approach.

1. Preaching that is Text-Driven

A. Proponents

- •
- •
- •
- •
- B. Definition

Text-driven preaching is preaching that follows and emphasizes the contours of the Biblical passage.

C. Description

- First, the outlines of text-driven sermons follow the contours of the Biblical passage. R. Scott Pace writes, "The form of the passage should serve as the blueprint for our sermon construction. In other words, the structure of the sermon should mirror the literary structure of the passage."¹⁰ Gallaty and Smith agree, "Ideally, a text-driven sermon's shape is based on the substance, structure, and spirit of the text."¹¹ Later, they write, "For the rest of [our lives], how to structure a sermon will always be a secondary question. The primary question is always, how is the text structured?"¹²
- Second, the aim of text-driven sermons coheres to the author's original aim.
- Third, the presentation of text-driven sermons is sensitive to the genre and tone of the text being preached.

¹⁰ R. Scott Pace, Preaching by the Book, 11, 56.

¹¹ Robby Gallaty and Steven W. Smith, Preaching for the Rest of Us: Essentials for Text-Driven Preaching, 28.

¹² Gallaty and Smith, Preaching for the Rest of Us, 30.

• Fourth, text-driven sermons require the preacher's fundamental commitment to a text-driven life and ministry. In other words, text-driven sermons aren't produced by accident. Gallaty and Smith write, "The preacher commits to stay in the chair until the Word is clear, and as a result, the Word changes him.... At that point the pastor is leading the church from the study, from his willingness to stay in the seat until he knows what the text means."¹³

D. Strengths

- First, text-driven sermons fill the preacher with both seriousness and confidence.
- Second, text-driven preaching demonstrates the preacher's belief in the ability of God's unfailing Word.
- Third, text-driven preaching frees preachers from the pressure to manufacture sermons built on personal charisma or slick presentations.

E. Weaknesses/Dangers

Preachers who poorly preach text-driven sermons might demonstrate the following issues:

- First, proponents of text-driven preaching occasionally produce sermons that are more like running commentaries on verses of scripture than sermons intended to build the church.
- Second, proponents of text-driven preaching may put undue emphasis on subsidiary points made by the biblical author.
- Third, proponents of text-driven preaching sometimes moralize Old Testament texts by making direct application to new covenant believers without mentioning the gospel or the indwelling power of the Holy Spirit.

¹³ Gallaty and Smith, Preaching for the Rest of Us, xiv.

2. Preaching that is Trinitarian & Doxological

Regarding the goal and object of our preaching-

- Preaching is _____ God and _____ God.
- Emphasizing only a Christological, or a Theological, or a Pneumatological view is too narrow.
- My trinitarian suggestion is ______ than Christological, Theological, or Pneumatological views by themselves.

Preaching is for God and about God!
